words need work. It's easy to learn but there

Endless Alphabet...

----- "Try to get your child started off with his ABCs can become a hassle especially if you are trying to use a plain old textbook. Endless Alphabet. is an app that will make your child not only enjoy learning all the letters, he will love doing it. Mix education with fun In order to make a child read properly, he must like it, and the only way a child will find learning the alphabet entertaining is if you approach him the proper way. This software application is whimsical and fun from the get-go. You are greeted by a pack of cute little monsters that will act as your guides and teachers throughout your entire use of this app. The program doesn't have a reward or scoring system so your child will never feel the pressure of underachieving How the learning process works Each letter of the alphabet is represented by a handful of words, and each word is learned by completing an interactive puzzle. First off the word is presented to your child, then the narrator speaks it out loud, then a pack of cutesy critters come and scramble the letters all over the screen. Your child's job is to rearrange the letters back into their appropriate brackets. He will definitely enjoy doing it as all letters give out a feedback when they are clicked and held. Once the word is done, the narrator will tell your child what the word means, along with a small video demonstration featuring the same whacky monsters. A good application for teaching your children the alphabet Given how unique Endless Alphabet.'s approach is when it comes to teaching your children, it will definitely cement itself in the child's mind in a way few other learning methods could. After completing all of the app's words, you might consider using another software from the same developer which will them to learn words that have unusual spelling, cannot be sounded out using phonics knowledge, and often cannot be represented using pictures. Endless Alphabet... Application Features -----

*Each letter represents a small word; many of these words are commonly known words but some are not. In one app your child can learn spelling and listen to voice and get others kids engaged to learn something new and be engaged as well. I highly recommend this app for your child." "My daughter loves this app so much. She can have her little one love the alphabet just like she did. Endless Alphabet never let my child down and we have been using it for 2 years. No glitches, no errors."

"My son would always say "I don't want to learn my letters. I just want to play video games and do weird stuff on the computer." Not anymore! Endless Alphabet teaches children ALL of their ABCs at a super-easy pace. I now use it with my daughter at night. It's been amazing how many times we have actually gotten up from the dinner table and went to bed early because my daughter was done learning her ABCs." "Endless Alphabet helps improve reading, spelling, and now I no longer have to struggle with teaching kids how to spell. This is a terrific value for moms/grandma's and teaches kids all their letters. Highly recommended." "This is my son's absolute favorite and its the best learning tool that we could possibly have. It really motivates and encourages your kid to learn all of their ABCs. You get to choose which way you want your child to learn by getting some extra lessons in the app. I would not recommend not trying this app. It's great!" "In addition, your child can learn with friends. It is a fun and the best app I've seen so far to learn all of the ABCs. It is simple, adorable, and it teaches your child all the time. The words are super easy to learn and you get to the fun part soon enough. It gives kids a sense of achievement and confidence when they can learn all their ABCs." "The comments I have seen from customers are what makes these reviews so great. Endless

The Best Educational Software App Everything you need to know about installing Endless Alphabet is right here. Circuit City is selling its PC business for less than $100 million, people familiar with the matter say. The company, which filed for bankruptcy last year, is setting up a restructuring process that will see the chain of business and technology retail stores sell off different parts of its business, including its store locations, inventory and related brands, The Wall Street Journal reported. The breakup is aimed at separating the company's parts, providing a path for it to reorganize and refocus, people familiar with the matter said. The separation includes a $100 million bid from e-commerce company China Ren Xinsheng Technology, which is buying Circuit City's website and another company called e5. As part of the deal, e-commerce company China Ren Xinsheng Technology will obtain the Circuit City website and license the e5 intellectual property and trademarks. The e5 brand will be used by the company to sell software and semiconductors. "The sale of the Circuit City business allows both companies to move forward in different ways. We believe that the Circuit City brand has tremendous value, and we are excited to help Circuit City continue to serve the customer," Greg Minor, chairman and CEO of China Ren Xinsheng Technology, said in a press release. China Ren Xinsheng Technology's bid was worth more than $3 billion when it was originally offered, the Journal said. The company is also working with several other bidders, according to sources familiar with the matter. The sources told the Journal that it's hard to put
