You've got an option! You can search for anything specific in Google using the stock Tricks Search or you can just get an idea of the latest unknown news using our new "the latest news" search. The results of the search are displayed right in Google.com, so you don't have to go to the new Google search page. Just search for the phrase, click "Search Google" and start reading the latest news. What's new in this version It's been improved! The latest version of Google Tricks Search is now available for Google Chrome! If you want to use the features from the latest release, you will need to update your browser. Simple to use The new version is simple to use. Here is the list of the most noticeable new features: Search phrases To search for a specific phrase, add it in double quotes (""), like "the latest news" - this will search for the phrase exactly as you typed it. For example, "Latest news" will yield results with the phrases "the latest news" and "latest news". Faster results Searching for a phrase can be very slow, but the new version is able to provide the latest news faster: We are able to index not only the visible web, but also the web that is not available for public view. The results will be displayed faster. More results The new version displays more results for each search - because of this, the number of returned results will increase. You can select a day or a week to view the results. Tabs In the new version, you will be able to set a default set of tabs to display. Just click the "Tabs" icon in the top-right corner of the search box. You can find other settings to control your searches in the preferences. Reset to default The changes are made instantly - you don't have to go through the preferences. Change your mind The new version allows to change the results after they are received. What people say This is great, but it would be even better if it had a "save" option on results. I really love this tool, but I wish it had the ability to save the search as the default! I also like that you can switch to "mobile view" if you prefer a simpler interface. I feel

My question is, how can I escape JS strings in JS so they display properly as JS? A: Why do you save both in source control? The answer is use JavaScript source control that understands and transforms your script properly. E.g. if you go to you can click the 'Source' tab and see the javascript you have written would look like this: $("#nav-pagelink").click(function () { $(".nav_menu a:first").
